Anacortes and Fidalgo Island

Lumber

“No reason for alarm among residents of the North Pacific at the prospect of the early destruction of our timber supply. The Forests are so vast that although the sawmills have been ripping 500,000,000’ of lumber out of them every year for the past ten years, the openings made so far are mere garden patches. At the present rate of consumption there is enough for a thousand years.”

Future Generations

“If you teach the kids about what is theirs, their common heritage- their legacy- they will take care of it. And they’ll feel a great loyalty to it.” – Bob Rose
